

Greetings AZ Eagles Parents, we've had a lovely month upstairs in the Eagles classroom. Our MicroEcon Committee's Shark Tank recently invited eight (8) new small businesses into the AZ Eagles Marketplace. The entrepreneurs were issued their small business loans and have begun preparations for our grand opening sale at this year's Secret Garden Fall Festival on Saturday, Nov. 11th. The adolescents enjoyed interacting with families at the Art Walk as they introduced their new small businesses. We had a successful first pumpkin patch (until the heat damaged many of our remaining pumpkins). In other news, we started our second quarter occupations this week: Cooking (techniques/science), Survival, and Psychology. Our kitchen scientists made a delicious Hungarian Goulash that the class enjoyed. Rehearsals for our Childsplay production of Snow White have begun in earnest and are going well so far. In seminar, 7th graders are reading a historical fiction novel entitled, The King of Mulberry Street and 8th graders have been reading some dystopian fiction, having just finished Animal Farm and starting 1984. We hope you're enjoying the cooling temperatures and wish you a joyful month ahead.
